

Dave Siebert, Director, Department of Natural Resources Bureau of Energy, Transportation and Environmental Analysis

Dave Siebert has been Director of DNR's Bureau of Energy, Transportation and Environmental Analysis since 2003.

His program is responsible for developing and implementing policy related to state and local transportation projects, including the management of an interagency cooperative agreement with WisDOT.

The program works closely with the Public Service Commission of WI on the environmental impact review and permitting of all energy and utility projects statewide-- including major transmission line, pipeline, and wind project cases.

The program is also the hub for multi-disciplinary environmental impact assessment and review of complex projects and policies under the Wisconsin Environmental Policy Act or WEPA.

A wetland ecologist by training, Dave has worked for DNR for 22 years.