

Scott Williams, Research and Education Coordinator, Wisconsin Energy Institute

Scott's primary duties at WEI include administering the Certificate in Engineering for Energy Sustainability, supporting faculty research collaborations, and developing seminars and public forums for the Wisconsin Public Utility Institute. Scott obtained a Master of Public Affairs degree in May 2010 from the La Follette School of Public Affairs at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and completed the Energy Analysis and Policy Certificate as part of his graduate program. He holds a B.A. in Journalism and History from UW-Madison, and previously worked as a morning news show producer at NBC15 in Madison.