

Wisconsin Public Utility Institute

Ian Coxhead, UW-Madison

Ian Coxhead is a development economist whose research includes, among other topics, the impacts of energy export booms, fossil fuel subsidies and carbon taxes in the developing world. He is a Professor and Department Chair in Agricultural and Applied Economics. He currently serves as Interim Director of the Wisconsin Energy Institute.

Coxhead brings a wealth of administrative experience and breadth and depth of knowledge about our campus. He has served as Chair of the Department of Agricultural and Applied Economics since 2012, served as Chair of Development Studies for six years (2004-2009 and 2015-16) and as Director of the Center for Southeast Asian Studies in 2002-2005. Since 2002 Coxhead has almost continuously served in one or more administrative roles on the UW–Madison campus.