

TOM PAQUE

WPPI Energy

Tom Paque is WPPI Energy's Senior Vice President – Services & Business Strategy. His background includes more than 30 years in the electric utility industry. Prior to joining WPPI Energy in 1994, he worked for Alliant Energy in various capacities, including large account management, operations management, and load management. Tom has extensive experience developing and marketing rate options and other energy services to large industrial end-users as well as demand-side management and renewable energy programs to all retail sectors. His current responsibilities include the development and implementation of joint action business strategies to ensure that WPPI Energy's 51 not-for-profit, member electric utilities are well positioned to meet their customers' needs in a rapidly changing business environment. Tom has a B.S. in mechanical engineering from the University of Wisconsin-Platteville and an M.B.A. from Edgewood College.