JOE WILSON

Quarles & Brady LLP

Joe Wilson is an energy and utility lawyer with extensive experience representing clients before the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin, the Illinois Commerce Commission, and other regulatory bodies. Joe spends the majority of his working hours representing clients before state regulators. Joe generally represents electric and gas utilities as well as customers of water and wastewater utilities. He counsels—and litigates on behalf of—clients on all aspects of utility business, including general and special purpose rate cases, construction projects, mergers and acquisitions, rate disputes, siting disputes, and more. Joe's specialized concentration allows him to provide practical, results-oriented advice. He also litigates complex commercial disputes in state and federal court over contracts, construction defects, False Claims Act/whistleblower complaints, unfair competition, ERISA, business breakups, and employment disputes. In 2019, Joe was elected to Quarles' executive committee. Joe received his B.A. from Marquette University, his J.D. from the University of Iowa College of Law.
