

MATTHEW SPENCER

Madison Gas and Electric

Matt Spencer became Madison Gas and Electric's (MGE) government affairs manager in November 2019. In this role, he handles all interactions with local, state, and federal elected officials relating to energy policy and other matters of interest to MGE. Prior to joining MGE, Matt spent eight years in the Wisconsin state capitol working as a legislative staffer, including time as the clerk of the energy and utilities committee. He also worked at the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin as the communications and legislative director. Matt graduated from the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater with a bachelor of arts degree communications and political science.
