

SAMANTHA SKENANDORE

Quarles & Brady LLP

Samantha Skenandore focuses her practice on both federal Indian law and tribal law, advising tribal and corporate clients in tribal governance, governmental affairs, corporate transactions, real estate, labor issues, and litigation. Her extensive multijurisdictional experience with tribal law includes representation of corporate entities, both tribal and nontribal, in matters involving financing, minority or women-owned certification, labor relations, complex commercial real estate matters, and government relations. Samantha also advises corporate clients on developing successful strategies to launch their businesses, seek and secure business certifications, build capacity, and prosper. Her experience extends to representing clients before members of Congress, congressional committees, and agencies through federal lobbying services. Samantha is an enrolled member of the Ho-Chunk Nation. She previously served as a tribal attorney for the Ho-Chunk Nation Department of Justice. She has been admitted to the bar in the Ho-Chunk Nation, Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation, Tohono O'odham Nation, Oneida Nation of Wisconsin, Winnebago Tribal Court, Lac du Flambeau Tribal Court, Menominee Indian Tribe of Wisconsin, and the states of Arizona and Wisconsin. Samantha received her B.A. from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and her J.D. from the Sturm College of Law, University of Denver.