

JACKIE WINCHESTER
Alliant Energy

Jackie Winchester is director of engineering with Alliant Energy/Wisconsin Power & Light (WPL). Jackie joined WPL in 1984 as a gas engineer and has worked in various roles including electrical engineering, project management, large customer account management, and system operations as well as business lead for two large technology projects. She is a registered Professional Engineer and has served as a member of the diversity board for University of Wisconsin-Madison engineering. She has been a member of the SWE and participated in past STEM activities in the Madison area. Jackie received a bachelor's in mechanical engineering from the University of Wisconsin-Platteville and a master's in mechanical engineering from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.