

FRANK GREB

Former President & CEO, Retired

Frank Greb brings a wealth of project and business management experience to his position on the WPUI board of directors. Throughout his career, Frank managed energy-related projects and businesses. He retired as president and CEO of Slipstream Group, Inc. Earlier in his career, Frank worked for RMT, a renewable energy engineering and construction firm; for RMT's parent company, Alliant Energy; and with the Energy Center of Wisconsin. Under Frank's leadership, some of the largest utility-scale wind and solar energy facilities across the U.S. were designed and constructed. In the early 1990s, he developed and implemented Alliant Energy's shared savings program that resulted in the investment of more than $60 million of energy efficient technologies in hundreds of commercial and industrial facilities. He holds a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering and a masters of business administration, both from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.
