

STEVE ELMORE

Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources

Steve Elmore is the director of the Drinking Water and Groundwater Program with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, where he has spent over 23 years working on key drinking water regulations, including the Safe Drinking Water Act and the Great Lakes Compact. Steve is currently the chair of the National Drinking Water Advisory Council. Before his work at the DNR, Steve served as a Peace Corps volunteer in Bulgaria. He holds a bachelor of science in geological engineering from Purdue University.