BECKY VALCQ

Alliant Energy

Becky Valcq is president of Alliant Energy's Wisconsin energy company and vice president of energy delivery. She has overall accountability for the company's performance in Wisconsin, overseeing Wisconsin-based operations while supporting customer growth, and leads operations support and economic development efforts across both Iowa and Wisconsin. Becky's decades in the energy industry have provided her with broad experience and deep expertise; over the years she has demonstrated a natural ability to effectively lead and guide teams to achieve organizational goals at various levels while working with broad sets of stakeholders. Before joining Alliant Energy, Becky served for five years as the chairperson of the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin (PSCW). There she was responsible for overseeing the regulation of Wisconsin's more than 1,000 water, electric and gas utilities, led the State Energy Office, oversaw the Wisconsin Broadband Office and the Office of Energy Innovation, and was a member of the Governor's cabinet. Before being appointed to the PSCW, Becky was a partner at Quarles & Brady where she was a member of the firm's energy, environmental and regulatory practice group. She began her career with 15 years as regulatory in-house counsel for We Energies where she had primary internal legal responsibility for the utility's regulatory activity in Wisconsin and Michigan and advised on and ensured compliance with administrative laws and regulations. She received BA political science and Spanish from Drake University and a J.D. from Marquette University Law School.
